

The Top Four Things To Do For Your Health During Mercury Retrograde

YOUR MERCURY BALANCE PLAN:

When Mercury is retrograde, we all can use with a little help with the body systems related to Mercury in our lives – namely our brain, memory, and nervous system can be extra challenged during the Mercury Retrogrades.

What can be done about this? We can take extra good care of our brain and nervous system by taking supplements and foods which help memory, hand-eye coordination, synapse speed and repair and insulation of our nerves all at the same time.

Well, the color connected with Mercury is GREEN, and all green foods are high in nutrients which nourish the nervous system, brain and memory.

Green Tea for health and vitality

1. One of the first food items I recommend to improve Mercury functions in brain and body is GREEN TEA. Green tea is a memory enhancer and boosts what is called working memory = the ability to hold things we are consciously processing right now as well as language and how to make sense and use of it.

Additionally, one of green tea's components is L- THEANINE which is really good for memory and calming the nervous system too. Research has shown that L-theanine helps people achieve meditative states. L- theanine significantly increases alpha brain waves, which means it relaxes the mind without inducing drowsiness. (Check with your doctor or medical professional before adding any new supplement, disclaimer is asking you to do your own due diligence, use common sense and act responsibly with your health.)

Additionally, take whatever supplements you find are good for your memory and focus to counteract the tendency to have a tired brain during the Mercury Retrograde. Everyone's physiology is a bit different, so for some, creating calm helps focus (like you will see in health tip #3), while others need a little stimulation, like tea or coffee to help them stay on track.

Work with your own natural body and brain type (some mild ADD/ADHD brain types can focus better with tea for instance), and be aware that you might be more sensitive to caffeine during the Mercury retrograde time as well.

- 2. Reduce your brain age by 10 years. A second group of foods good for Mercury ruled systems in your body are eating or drinking leafy greens. Did you know that certain leafy greens clear the arteries, can stave off Alzheimer and dementia, can make your brain younger and more alert in old age?

Green Drinks are good for you

The Vitamin K found in leafy greens, cooked greens, brussel sprouts and asparagus keeps mental abilities sharp and can give you a brain which functions as 10 years younger – if you get at least one serving of these vitamin rich greens every day.

So, let the Mercury retrograde help you RE-assess your diet and how you are taking care of your brain and nervous system. Use this time to increase ways to get these nutrients daily, not just a few days a week.

3. The third top health habit that improves Mercury functions and memory is MEDITATION.

The Atlantic wrote a significant article on the benefits of meditation and memory.

Meditation has long been known to calm anxiety, improve focus and is fantastic for improving work efficiency and overall health because intuition and decision making is clearer for those who meditate as well.

Since Mercury retrograde is important to help calm the nervous system and make sure you are not frazzled by all the double checking of appointments and inevitable changes that occur during this time, it is important to make sure you make time to meditate daily during this time.

It only takes a few minutes a day. YOU HAVE A BONUS GUIDED VISUALIZATION. Listen to the free 4 minute Guided Visualization that I give you as part of being a Conscious Calendars subscriber – see January 2017 Videos. Once you learn how to bring yourself present moment – to the here and now by shifting from ‘out there’ to exactly where you are right now, on this day, on this planet, at your current location in a house, car or outside, and in your current body real-time, then you will see how quickly you can apply this – literally in seconds you can BE HERE NOW with the method I teach you in the Guided Visualization.

Another way lovely way to relax is to listen to a simple 7 minute guided visualization or 15 minute refresher sound file from a colleague of mine and increase your efficiency and clarity.

Conversely, consider doing nothing for 5 minutes at least once a day. Can you go without your phone or stimulation (including listening to music) for 5 minutes? If you cannot, then you might be addicted to electronics, or just need a little help to calm down.

Even 5 minutes of no stimulation, which is no reading, music or phone; just sitting for 5 minutes makes a significant difference in your productivity and ability to focus on that day.

When Mercury functions well in our lives, we can track details and not get fatigued; we can make connections, discriminate facts and learn easily.

Meditation is like a mini- nap for your brain. Your brain can decompress and function more clearly with these little 5 minute breaks.

- 4. The fourth health habit in the Mercury Balance plan is to connect with nature, high oxygen emitting green plants, spend time in gardens, watching trees sway in the wind or squishing your feet in the green grass.

All of this helps keep the joy and wonder of life fresh. The life giving oxygen given off by evergreen trees and plants is heart healthy as we know. The vitality and quality of air given off in plant rich environments is different than the oxygen found in closed door buildings.

Mercury is the planet of GREEN, so it is no surprise that during Mercury retrograde it is vital to eat, drink and breathe more green in your life.

Individual Vedic Astrology Chart – you can improve Mercury in your life: I also give this advice if someone's Mercury in his/her birth chart needs extra support. I recommend getting more greens, green tea and meditation into their life on a regular basis.

Overall, we all will feel like we have a challenge with the Mercury functions in our body and brain during Mercury retrogrades.

WHEN to add these mercury balancing habits

Of course apply these DURING a Mercury Retrograde!

Ideally, you can get ahead of things and prepare for Mercury Retrograde, next time. Take extra care to add at least one of these healthy habits every day two weeks before, during and up to two weeks after the Mercury retrograde. If you do, you will be saying “What Mercury Retrograde”? I feel fantastic, and my nervous system isn’t stressed at all.

Take charge and make some pre-emptive moves to improve your life during Mercury Retrograde instead of trying to re-gain lost ground after the event things align.

This will have you functioning in your personal genius zone all year long.

I have added some science articles to help drive home how beneficial these actions are.

Remember, drink Green Tea, spend extra time outside and in forests or green houses, and calm your nervous system and you will be functioning much better during the Mercury Retrograde.
